TODD ROGOW

PRESIDENT & CEO
HEALTHIX, INC.

WELCOME REMARKS

Todd M. Rogow, MPA, CHCIO is the President and Chief Executive Officer of Healthix. Todd brings a wealth of knowledge, industry experience and innovation to the health information exchange space, where he has worked in leadership positions over the past fifteen years. At Healthix, Todd has driven the organization's growth and evolution and continues to fulfill the critical role of building and deploying leading edge services in support of value-based care throughout the New York region. It takes a community to make an impact on healthcare outcomes and at Healthix, this is done through work in support of New York State's 1115 Medicaid Waiver, enabling New Yorkers to have secure, easy access to their medical records, and providing actionable insights that impact quality measurements for providers, care managers and health plans. Healthix's mission, mobilizing health information across our communities to advance patient care, continues to be its guiding principle.

ALEXA MIKHAIL

SENIOR HEALTH AND LONGEVITY WRITER
SHE MEDIA'S FLOW SPACE

OPENING REMARKS

Alexa Mikhail is a senior health and longevity writer at SHE Media's Flow Space, based in New York, where she is leading coverage on women's healthy aging. She was previously a senior reporter at Fortune Magazine, covering workplace wellness, mental health, aging & longevity, and more. Her reporting has explored topics such as global health, men's mental health care, menopause care, and ageism in the workforce. Alexa has led lively discussions on health and wellness at HLTH U.S., HLTH Europe, Fortune's Most Powerful Women conference, and Fortune's Brainstorm Health conference, among others. She was also a fellow at the National Gerontological Association's Conference and moderated at the Longevity Investors Conference in Gstaad.

Alexa has also worked in video production at CNN during the CNN+ launch. Her bylines have appeared in The 19th, The Washington Post, and Good Morning America. She is a graduate of Northwestern University's Medill School of Journalism.

CINDY HSU

ANCHOR/REPORTER
CBS NEWS NEW YORK AT NOON

SAM PIROZZOLO

ASSEMBLY MEMBER
NEW YORK STATE ASSEMBLY

KEYNOTE REMARKS

Cindy Hsu is an Emmy Award-winning anchor and reporter who has been at CBS News New York since 1993. Her passion is sharing stories about children, seniors, education, adoption, animals and mental health awareness.

Cindy has earned Emmy Awards for stories including “Smuggled from China,” exposing the horrific plights of Chinese refugees trying to make it to America. Her most poignant story was the two-part series “Bringing Rosie Home.” Through home videos, she brought viewers to China as she adopted her daughter Rosie as a single mother. The series won the New York AP Broadcasters Award for Best Feature and was nominated for an Emmy.

She spends much of her off-duty time in community work and is open about her struggle with depression, hoping to break down the stigma surrounding mental health. Some of her past and present philanthropic affiliations include: The Asian Professional Exchange, a big brother/big sister program. She’s also worked with the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation, The Humane Society of New York, The Children’s Miracle Network and the Museum of Chinese in America.

LEGISLATIVE INSIGHTS

Sam Pirozzolo was elected to the New York State Assembly on November 8, 2022. The 63rd Assembly District represents parts of Richmond County. He is a native Staten Islander and has successfully operated his family’s optical practice for 33 years. He is the past president of Community Education Council 31, where he served for seven years.

Some of his most notable accomplishments include the creation of a Gifted and Talented program for middle school students, the recommendation for the NYC Department of Education to hire retired police officers as school resource officers, and the successful fight for the immediate cleanup of toxic PCBs leaking from the light fixtures in school classrooms. As an education advocate, Sam has participated in historic litigation that led to the return of more than $4 billion dollars to New York public schools. He also fought to ensure that co-located charter schools receive the same capital funding as their host public schools.

While serving in the Legislature, Sam will work to support law enforcement officers with proper funding, fix broken bail and parole policies, and help small businesses grow and thrive in a stronger, more resilient economy.

JOSEPH CONTE

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR
STATEN ISLAND PERFORMING PROVIDER SYSTEM

PANEL #1 MODERATOR

Joseph Conte is the Executive Director of the Staten Island Performing Provider System, the preeminent population health organization on Staten Island focusing on health equity, addressing disparities and social determinants of health. Michael is a strong believer that all relationships are built on trust – this is a core value of Ready Computing.

PAMELA MATTEL

CEO
COORDINATED BEHAVIORAL CARE

PANEL #1

As the Chief Executive Officer of Coordinated Behavioral Care (CBC), a clinically integrated behavioral health network comprising 78 nonprofit organizations, her mission is to inspire change and drive the transformation of community care. With 38 years of experience in the nonprofit sector, including 15 years in executive leadership, Pam has focused on advancing integration and innovation across behavioral healthcare, primary healthcare, and housing. She firmly believes that innovation in healthcare and social services is most effective when it brings together diverse stakeholders, fosters collaboration, incorporates design thinking, and measures tangible results. Central to this approach is ensuring that the people we serve are integral to the process, sitting at the table with us as equal partners. This commitment has helped secure groundbreaking programs and models, including certified community behavioral health clinics, care transitions, technology-enabled care, opioid response initiatives, and the use of key performance indicators to drive improved community health outcomes.

PAUL NAGLE

STONEWALL COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION

PANEL #3

Paul Nagle has over 30 years in both nonprofit administration and LGBTQ+ activism and currently serves as the Founding Executive Director of Stonewall Community Development Corporation since 2015.

Before joining Stonewall CDC, Paul was the Founding Director of Cultural Strategies Initiative Inc. (CSI), established with a major grant from the Rockefeller Cultural Innovation Fund. Originally envisioned as a two-year project, it operated for four years, with one of its projects, Musicians United to Protect Bristol Bay, lasting six years, and playing a role in helping to defeat the creation of the Pebble Mine in Alaska.

Before that, as Director of Communications & Cultural Policy for NYC Councilmember Alan Gerson (2002-2010), Paul organized the hard-hit cultural community in District 1 and engaged them in crafting strategies to help preserve and revitalize the arts in Lower Manhattan in the wake of the 9/11 attacks. The community-generated plan, Campuses & Corridors, served as the blueprint for a partnership between the Mayor, the Council Speaker and the Councilmember that was very successful in providing targeted capital and programmatic investments to restore the sector.

ALLISON SESSO

PRESIDENT & CEO
UNDUE MEDICAL DEBT

PANEL #3

Allison Sesso became the President / CEO of Undue Medical Debt, also known as RIP Medical Debt, in January of 2020. Undue Medical Debt is a nonprofit, charitable institution that relieves medical debt across the U.S., providing financial, physical, and emotional relief to people saddled with medical debt. Undue has relieved $22,849,672,373 to date for over 14.72 million people.

Under Allison's leadership, Undue Medical Debt has expanded its reach by working with a wide range of health care providers to purchase medical debt, working in partnership with states, counties, and cities on local medical debt relief initiatives, developing its capacity to highlight the impact of medical debt on families, and contributing effectively to the larger conversation around the root causes of medical debt. She is a key voice on the topic of medical debt and has been interviewed by CBS Sunday Morning, NPR, the New York Times, and others.

She previously served as the Executive Director of the Human Services Council of New York (HSC), an association of 170 nonprofits delivering 90% of human services in New York City.

GALE A. BREWER

COUNCIL MEMBER
NEW YORK CITY COUNCIL

LEGISLATIVE INSIGHTS

Gale A. Brewer represents the 6th Council District, located on Manhattan's Upper West Side. Brewer chairs the Committee on Oversight and Investigations, which has a mandate to examine the mayoral administration, its policies, and its delivery of city services. Under her leadership, the committee assessed costs of the migrant crisis, studied operational challenges in family court, examined responses to climate emergencies and more.

Brewer is working towards solutions to citywide issues from micromobility safety to unlicensed cannabis shops to affordable housing. She recently passed legislation to establish composting facilities in city parks, restrict the sale of e-bikes that fail to meet safety standards, and improve reporting requirements for cannabis enforcement.

Previously, she served as Manhattan Borough President from 2014-2021 and represented the 6th Council District from 2002-2013. She also served as Chief of Staff to Council Member Ruth Messinger, NYC Deputy Public Advocate, Director of the city's Federal Office, and Executive Director of the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women.

ALLAN CLEAR

DIRECTOR, OFFICE OF DRUG USER HEALTH, AIDS
INSTITUTE
NEW YORK STATE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

PANEL #4 MODERATOR

Allan Clear is a prominent American public health advocate and harm reduction activist, renowned for his leadership in drug user health initiatives since the early 1990s. He serves as the Director of the Office of Drug User Health at the New York State Department of Health AIDS Institute, where he oversees programs addressing overdose prevention, and access to medical and mental health services for people who use drugs.

Clear's commitment to harm reduction began in the Lower East Side of New York City, where he was the founding Executive Director of the Lower East Side Harm Reduction Center—one of the first syringe exchange programs in the state. He later led the Harm Reduction Coalition, a national organization promoting harm reduction as a framework for working with drug users in the U.S. His work has been instrumental in shaping drug policy and advocating for public health approaches to drug use.

JEREMY L. KAPLAN

ENCORE COMMUNITY SERVICES

PANEL #4

Jeremy Kaplan joined Encore Community Services as Executive Director in July 2018 and has led the organization in creating its Encore For Life Strategic Plan. Jeremy has significantly expanded Encore's public and private partnerships and has established Encore as the sector leader in the areas of food security and social connections for older New Yorkers. He has leveraged Encore's rich history in the theater district to deepen relationships with local unions and theater owners alike, rejuvenating Encore's reputation as Broadway's longest-running act of loving care.

Jeremy secured Encore's position as the city's lead provider of Home Delivered Meals in Manhattan's community districts 4, 5, and 7 and led the organization's successful bid to launch a Network Older Adult Center in Midtown, including Encore's Aging Through Arts Center and its Life Long Learning Center. Encore serves over 750,000 meals a year to older New Yorkers through its Meals on Wheels and Older Adult Center Programs. Prior to Encore, Jeremy served as Senior Director at Phipps Neighborhoods, leading 25 programs serving more than 4,500 children and their families in the South Bronx.

LAURIE LANPHEAR

VIRGINIA SHUBERT

SENIOR ADVISOR, POLICY AND RESEARCH
HOUSING WORKS INC.

PANEL #4

Virginia (Ginny) Shubert co-founded and now acts as Senior Advisor on Policy and Research for Housing Works, a New York non-profit established in 1990 to end the dual crises of homelessness and AIDS through relentless advocacy, the provision of lifesaving services, and entrepreneurial businesses to sustain its efforts. Ms. Shubert has over 35 years' experience as an attorney, advocate, service provider, consultant and community-based researcher working on poverty and health issues including homelessness and access to housing, HIV/AIDS, tuberculosis, and drug user health. A graduate of the Harvard Law School, she has been counsel in landmark lawsuits involving access to care and services, including federal and state class actions to establish the rights of New Yorkers with HIV to safe, medically appropriate housing and to reasonable accommodations necessary to ensure access to public entitlements. In 1988, Ms. Shubert founded the AIDS Project of the Coalition for the Homeless, and when Housing Works formed in 1990, she established its Advocacy and Public Policy Department. For the last thirty years Ms. Shubert has worked as a consultant on housing, health, and economic justice issues.
